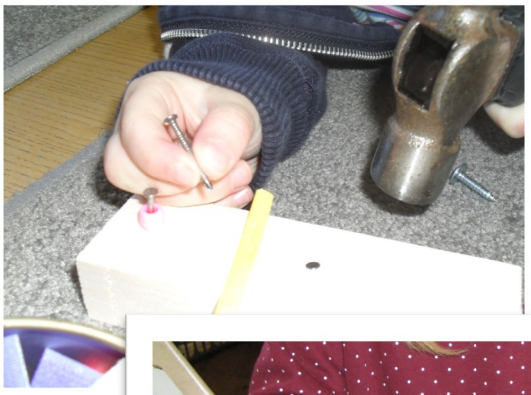
Noah's Ark News

18 March 2022

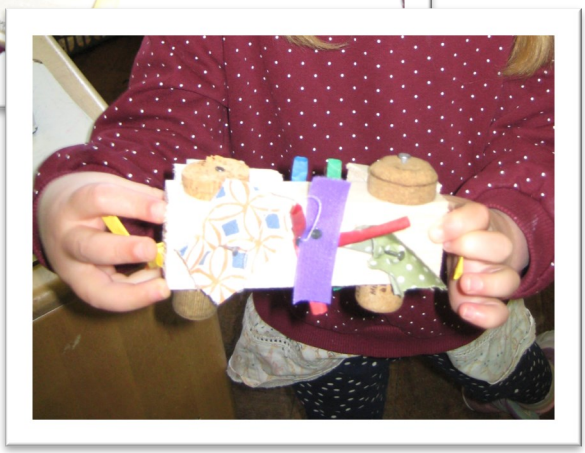
Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been lovely having parents back into the setting at the beginning and ends of the sessions again. The children love showing you where they hang their bags and how they choose their name to self register. We hope that we will be able to continue now that restrictions have been eased.

This week we have had a workshop with Lucy Freeman, a woodworking specialist to develop our woodworking opportunities. The children especially enjoyed using the woodworking bench and saw You may have seen some of their creations on our Facebook page.



If you follow us on Facebook, you will also have seen a spotlight on Annette, who has worked with us for many years. As well as all the hard work she does here, Annette also volunteers with Family Action, a food waste charity which helps redistribute food which would otherwise go to waste. For more information about this and other similar organisations, see page 2 or ask Annette.



Lastly, a reminder that we have an inset day coming up on 8 April

Best wishes for the weekend,

The Noah's Ark team
